Frank Krajewski of Third Avenue, Whose Car Ran Down and Killed Miss Sadie Murphy Sunday on Hasbrouck Avenue Hill, Waived Police Court Examination.

Frank Krajewski of 66 Third avenue, driver of the Buick touring car that ran down and fatally injured Miss Sadie Murphy of 102 Hone street on the Hasbrouck avenue hill Sunday morning, was arraigned before Judge Shufeldt in police court this morning when he was represented by Attorney Frank W. Brooks, who entered a plea of not guilty on behalf of Krajewski, and waived examination to await the action of the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $5,000 by Judge Shufeldt.

According to the story of the tragedy as obtained by the police department, Miss Murphy was attempting to cross the street at Hasbrouck avenue and Newkirk avenue when Krajewski, driving a Buick touring car, ran into her. She was struck by the car and was picked up sixty feet distant from the point where the car struck her, and was rushed to the City of Kingston Hospital, and died there about an hour later.

Walter Reilly of 3743 Paulding avenue, the Bronx, New York city, and his wife and James R. Howard together with Krajewski went to police headquarters after the accident and Reilly reported that he was an eye witness of the tragedy, and that Krajewski was driving up the Hasbrouck avenue hill at a high rate of speed on the left hand side of the street when he struck the woman.

Krajewski, on the other hand, claimed at the time that he was driving only 25 miles an hour and that he saw the woman start across the street and when she saw him, she started to step back and forth and before he could stop his car he had struck her. The dead woman was a daughter of the late Andrew and Mary Malloy Murphy and is survived by three sisters: Funeral from the late home, 102 Hone street, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church, where a Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul, at 9:30 o'clock. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Hooch Cases in Local U. S. Court

U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly had a busy day Saturday when several defendants were arraigned before him by federal agents working out of the Kingston office.

Harry Coglianese, arraigned on a charge of possession of high power beer, waived examination and was held in $500 bail for appearance in U. S. District Court. This charge grows out of the seizure of beer at South Cairo some time ago.

Coglianese was then arrested by the agents and arraigned before Commissioner Connelly on a charge of manufacturing, possession and having in his possession an unregistered still. This charge grows out of the finding of a still in a place at High Falls in Greene county, in which a fire occurred. Following the fire the agents were notified by the sheriff and State Troopers that a still was in the place and that it was evidently the operation of the still which caused the fire. The agents visited the premises which it is alleged was owned by Mrs. Barney Coglianese and there found the still, a 500-gallon affair. At the time the agents called after the fire the still had been dismantled and parts of it were found outside the premises in the woods. Some of the equipment however was still in the house. In addition to the still a quantity of five-gallon cans of alcohol was found in the vicinity and it is thought the still had been operated for cleaning alcohol.

An investigation followed to locate the alleged owner and operator of the still. The arrest of Harry Coglianese followed this investigation. He was held in $1,500 for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connelly on August 23.

Arthur Pacini of the Village Inn, East Durham, was arraigned before Commissioner Connelly and waived examination and was held for the action of District Court. Pacini was held in $500 on a charge of possession of liquor.

Harry Scuzczek after a hearing was held by Commissioner Connelly in $500 bail, for the action of the District Court. He was charged with transporting and possession of high power beer.

Joseph Poland of Livingston Manor charged with possession found an information had been filed by the District Court in his case. This superseded the local charge.

Herbert Scriber of Tannersville, who was charged with the possession of an unlicensed wildcat brewery near Tannersville, was arraigned before the commissioner and the hearing was adjourned until September 3 before Mr. Connelly. The brewery was raided recently by agents from the Kingston office who allege they found a large brewery being operated.

William Burke, who is charged with maintaining and operating a still at Hyde Park, was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing on September 7 before Commissioner Connelly.

The Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley, for the past six years pastor of St. James M. E. Church in this city, died early Sunday morning at Cornwallville, N. Y., aged 52 years. The Rev. Mr. Tetley, who was not enjoying the best of health, had gone to Cornwallville to spend a two weeks' vacation. It was in this place that he first served as a minister.

The death of the local clergyman will sadden a great many Kingstonians, who although not of the same faith as the Rev. Mr. Tetley held him in high esteem as a valuable friend. His sudden death, when announced at the Sunday services of the St. James Church, brought much sorrow to the congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Tetley was born at Greenfield, Sullivan county, N. Y., the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Josiah Tetley. After completing the grade school in that community he went to the Claverack Preparatory School, Claverack, N. Y. From there he took up his studies at the Hackettstown Institute at Hackettstown, N. J., and later entered Syracuse University where he studied for three years. He later entered Cornell University from which he was graduated in 1904.

Before joining the New York Conference he served in the Central New York Conference at Georgetown, Otisville and Truxton. In the New York Conference he was first assigned to Cornwallville and Durham for two years as pastor. His next pastorate was at Highland Mills, where he served from 1907 to '09. During the three years following he was situated at Highland from where he went to Catskill for three years. After serving seven years at St. Paul's Church, Peekskill, he was called to St. James Church, this city, where he has served his congregation very acceptably since 1922.

Surviving are his wife, who was Araminta Scott; two sons, Donald Davenport and James Wilbur; three daughters, Elsie Scott Tetley, Margaret Minto Tetley and Emily Elizabeth Kane; five sisters, Mrs. George F. Rice of Kingston, Mrs. William Martin of Purchase, N. Y., Mrs. Elsie Stott and Mrs. William Stott of Ravena, N. Y., and Miss Belle Tetley of Kingston, and two brothers, Joseph Tetley of Ravena, N. Y., and George F. Tetley of Batavia, N. Y.

The funeral will be held in St. James Church, Wednesday at 3 p. m. The casket will be closed at the funeral and those who wish to view the remains may do so at the chapel of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Tuesday between the hours of 1 and 4 p. m. Interment will be in Montrose cemetery.

Republicans Select Men To Be Nominated

The Ulster County Republican Convention held Saturday at the Auditorium selected for recommendation to the enrolled Republican voters for nomination on primary day the following ticket:

Member of Congress, Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland.
State Senator, Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston.
Member of Assembly, Millard Davis of Kerhonkson.
County Treasurer, Herbert E. Thomas of Kingston.
District Attorney, Frederick G. Traver of Kingston.
Coroner, W. Norman Conner of Kingston.

In addition to selection of candidates for recommendation at the primary delegates and alternate delegates were recommended to attend the Republican State Convention at Syracuse on September 27, and the convention also went on record as favoring the nomination of Philip Elting as candidate for the office of Governor of New York state. Mr. Elting who for twenty-five years has been county chairman of the Republican party in the county will be the choice of the Ulster county delegation at the State Convention for the highest office in the state.

This action was taken following the introduction of a resolution by John W. Eckert and Senator Arthur H. Wicks, which was adopted amid great applause by the members of the convention. In offering the resolution Mr. Eckert said there was no man in Ulster county who was more beloved by members of all parties than was Philip Elting, who for twenty-five years had held the office of county chairman of the Republican party. With a keen perception of the public needs and the public ideas he had always worked with unusual results for the benefit of the public. His unusual ability as a lawyer is well known and although not a spectacular in the practice of law, his opinions are sought by those seeking a sound understanding and opinion of the law. His knowledge of finances and his knowledge of politics and political affairs are known to all and known to be founded upon a sound, honest and upright foundation.

Mr. Eckert then offered the following resolution and moved its adoption by the convention:

George Clinton, the first Governor and the third Governor of the State of New York came from Ulster County. Since then the County has produced many outstanding figures in the history of the State, but no candidate for Governor has come from within its borders.

During the past two decades there has been in this county, the making, a stalwart and sterling individual destined to be a man who has acquired a unique knowledge of Governmental affairs, and has made a name that is a synonym for honor and political righteousness.

This distinguished citizen and son of Ulster is Philip Elting of the First Ward of the City of Kingston.

Now, therefore

RESOLVED, that the Republicans of the County of Ulster in Convention assembled, in accordance with the rules and orders of the Republican Party in the County of Ulster, do hereby offer to the people of the State of New York a candidate for the office of Governor in the person of Philip Elting of Kingston with the full assurance that his acts as the incumbent of said office would bring distinction to the State, recognition and satisfaction to its citizens, and an addition of sound judgment and common sense.

Further RESOLVED, that we unanimously and most heartily urge his nomination and further

RESOLVED, that a certified copy of this resolution be delivered to the delegates who will attend the Republican State Convention which will nominate a Governor.

The resolution was unanimously adopted amid great cheers from the delegates and shouts of "Are We With Him? Yes. All the Time? Yes."

In response to the demonstration made by the delegates from the floor of the convention, Mr. Elting arose and said that this was his twenty-fifth year as chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee and during all of the twenty-five years he had had something to say as to what went on in the conventions and what was done. He had heard prior to the call of the convention that some of the members desired to offer the resolution just adopted, but after all of the years as county leader he had apparently lost control of the situation and they had disobeyed his orders.

Mr. Elting warned the convention that they should not put too much faith in the actions of some of the young "cubs" of the party who were at times over enthusiastic. He said he appreciated the honor and respect shown by the people of Ulster county through the action of the convention.

Will Not Seek Office.

In all of his twenty-five years as chairman of the Republican County Committee, Mr. Elting said, he had tried to do what was right and just and he was proud of the fact that during these years in which the Republican party was the controlling party of the county there had been at all times a good, clean, efficient government in the county. During his service as county chairman he said he had tried to keep in close touch with affairs in the county. Never during his service as county chairman had he sought office at the hands of his party, although he had been honored by three presidents of the United States in appointment to

Straton Will Not Debate in Church

Refusal to Meet Governor Smith in Calvary Made in Statement Read to Congregation by Dr. Straton's Son.

New York, Aug. 13 (AP).—The Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, has refused to meet Governor Smith in debate in his church on the grounds that the pulpit is no place for a political discussion.

Governor Smith had asked to be allowed to defend himself there from the attack Dr. Straton made on him from the pulpit of Calvary a week ago Sunday in which the Governor was called the "deadliest foe of moral progress in the country."

Dr. Straton's refusal to meet the Governor in debate in Calvary was made in a statement read to the congregation in Calvary last night by his son, the Rev. Hilmyer Straton of Philadelphia, who conducted the evening service in the absence of his father, who is at his summer home in Greenwood Lake, N. Y.

"I stand ready to meet the Governor at any time, except the Lord's Day, and in any suitable place," Dr. Straton wrote, "and I sincerely hope that he may be led to take my acceptance of his challenge at its face value."

Dr. Straton said that his previous statement that he would meet Governor Smith "face to face" in Calvary church if the Governor would also debate him on the same question in St. Patrick's Cathedral was in the nature of a joke, and for the "sake of a bit of humor to relieve the rather tense situation."

Several years ago Dr. Straton opened his pulpit to William A. Brady, theatrical producer, with whom he debated the morals of the stage and last year held two debates on evolution with the Rev. Dr. Kirkley T. Mather of Harvard University.

Since Dr. Straton made his charges against the Governor and the latter asked for an opportunity to answer them several influential members of the church have protested both against Dr. Straton's charges and against the proposed use of the church for the debate.

Governor Smith has not given any indication of what his answer will be to the latest suggestion, but early in the week he declined to consider Madison Square Garden as a forum, saying he preferred to defend himself in the same pulpit from which the charges were made.

Local Agents Raid Three More Places

Federal agents from the Kingston office put in a full week last week when a number of places were raided and several arrests were made. Friday the agents raided Lunney's Cornwell Inn and placed James B. Lunney, proprietor, under arrest. Justice of the Peace P. J. Sylcox before whom Lunney was arraigned held the defendant in $500 bail for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Crist of Middletown on August 14.

The same day Brunner's Hotel at Highland Mills was raided and a large quantity of liquors was seized. Henry Brunner was arrested on a charge of possession and sales and was held for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Crist August 13. Henry Brunner is the alleged bartender and besides him "Pop" Brunner was arrested and held for a hearing before the commissioner.

Saturday the federal agents from the local office visited the village of Gardiner, where they called at Callahan's Hotel in the village. There they executed a search warrant and located a quantity of alleged liquor. Rudolph Leffer, the proprietor, was placed under arrest on a charge of possession of liquors in violation of the prohibition laws. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Joseph Deyo at Gardiner and held in $500 for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connelly on August 22.

They Came Here From Marbltown

Charles Jones of Poughkeepsie, who was visiting friends in Marlborough, accompanied Everett Sampson, a negro, and Charles Robinson, both of Marlborough, to Kingston on Sunday. They had an automobile owned by Robinson which Jones was driving.

Following a crash between the Marlborough car and the auto of Roy J. Myers of 29 Harley avenue, Myers placed Jones under arrest on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. Officer Brophy at the same time arrested Sampson and Robinson on charges of public intoxication.

Jones furnished $299 bail and Robinson $10 for their appearance today in court when they appeared with Attorney A. J. Cook. They entered pleas of not guilty and the hearings were set for Thursday. The cash bail was continued.

Samson, who is married and has three children, on his plea of guilty was given a ten days' suspended jail sentence.

The automobile was held by the police and in response to a question by Judge Shufeldt, Sergeant Phinney said the car was worth about $1,500.

Seaside Resorts Damaged by Gale Along Atlantic

Several Small Craft Sunk and Crops Heavily Damaged—No Deaths Reported but Boats and Crops Are Missing—Temperatures Dropped.

Philadelphia, Aug. 13 (AP).—A gale swept out along the central Atlantic coast today leaving in its wake disabled small craft, disrupted communication systems, flattened crops and battered seaside resorts.

Along the Maryland coast the wind reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour, later diminishing in intensity. The highest wind velocity reported along the New Jersey coast was 45 miles an hour.

The gale was accompanied by torrential rains in certain sections, 8.27 inches falling from 5 a. m. Saturday morning to 8 p. m. Sunday night in Washington. Bridges were washed out and crops heavily damaged in Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The Dan river in Virginia was out of its banks in places and the Potomac river neared flood stage. The storm played its greatest havoc in Delaware Bay, where several small craft were sunk and the British steamer Athelbeach was blown around on the mud flats off St. John Light.

Seaside resorts along Long Island and the New Jersey coast were subjected to a heavy pounding from the mountainous waves. A portion of the board walk at Beach Haven, N. J., was demolished, and the south end of the beach front at Bradley Beach was swept away. Coast guardsmen said the storm was the worst in ten years.

No deaths have been reported but several small boats and their crews were still missing today. It was believed, however, that most if not all of these would report safe today.

A woman was operated on for appendicitis by flashlight in the South Baltimore Hospital when the electric lights failed just as the incision was being made. The storm had blown down a tree overhanging the feeding current to the hospital. The operation, which required 33 minutes, was performed successfully.

The storm sent temperatures dropping all over the east, the thermometer going to 55 degrees in Philadelphia, making it the coldest August 13 in 39 years.

Arrest Seven Women in Raids

Seven women were arrested and placed in the Ulster county jail Saturday night after raids on two alleged disorderly houses by Sheriff Arthur Rice, Under Sheriff Doyle, Deputy Sheriff Constable and Sergeants James Cunningham and John Lockhardt.

Edith Lee, who was charged with being the proprietress of the Lake View House, Eddyville, waived examination when arraigned before Judge Jennings of the town of Ulster and is being held in jail to await the action of the grand jury. The three young women arrested there charged with being disorderly persons who gave their names as Peggy La France, Beatrice Boyce and Patricia Burton, requested an examination and their hearing was adjourned until Monday.

Gertrude "Evelyn" Jones, alleged proprietress, Evelyn Land and Lillian Bradford taken in a raid at Stony Hollow will be taken before Judge Frederick Beecher in the town of Kingston for a hearing on the charges preferred.

The evidence that was had and used to stave the raids in the town of Ulster and Kingston whereby the Jones and Lee disorderly houses were visited and arrests made by Sheriff Rice and posse, was secured under the direction of District Attorney Frederick G. Traver and the raids conducted under his advice.

Hoover Comes Out For Enforcement And Farm Relief

Reiterates Stand Against Repeal of 18th Amendment or Any Modification of Enforcement That Would Constitute Nullification—Threats Religious Tolerance, —Urges Religious Tolerance, —Stanford University Stadium, Cal., Aug. 13 (AP).—Herbert Hoover accepted the Republican presidential nomination Saturday with a reiteration of his stand against repeal of the prohibition amendment or any modification of enforcement that would constitute nullification, and with the exposition of a three-fold agricultural relief program.

The nominee repeated that he stands for "the efficient enforcement" of the laws enacted under the prohibition amendment and added that "whoever is chosen president has under his oath the solemn duty to pursue this course."

For relief of the farmer he outlined a program embracing tariff protection and increased and cheaper transportation, supported by federal financial aid in building up farmer-owned and controlled corporations to take care of crop surpluses.

Declares for Religious Tolerance.

In addition he declared vigorously for religious tolerance; inveighed against corruption in public office; struck a note of idealism in the relation of government to the people and issued a call to the women and the youth of the country to contribute their enthusiasm to the success of the American experiment in democracy.

Speaking to a vast throng in this athletic bowl and to countless thousands in an unseen radio audience over the country, Hoover outlined his stand on prohibition without making direct reference to Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic opponent, or to the New York governor's declaration for liberalization of the Volstead enforcement act.

His Stand on 18th Amendment.

The Republican candidate's disposal of the prohibition question in the space of a few minutes, devoting approximately 200 words to its discussion. To the farm aid question he gave over more than one-sixth of his address of more than 8,000 words.

With reference to the prohibition question, Mr. Hoover said:

"I recently stated my position upon the 18th Amendment, which I again repeat:

"I do not favor the repeal of the 18th Amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Whoever is chosen President has under his oath the solemn duty to pursue this course."

"Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."

"Common sense compels us to realize that grave abuses have occurred—abuses which must be remedied. And organized searching investigation of fact and causes can alone determine the wise method of correcting them. Crime and disobedience of law cannot be permitted to break down the Constitution and laws of the United States."

Modification Means Nullification.

"Modification of the enforcement laws which would permit that which the Constitution forbids in nullification. This the American people will not countenance. Change in the Constitution can and must be brought about only by the straightforward methods provided in the Constitution itself. There are those who do not believe in the purposes of several provisions of the Constitution. No one denies their right to seek to amend it. They are not subject to criticism for asserting that right. But the Republican Party does deny the right of anyone to seek to destroy the purposes of the Constitution by indirect means."

"Whoever is elected President takes an oath not only to faithfully execute the office of the President, but that oath provides still further that he will, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. I should be untrue to these great traditions, untrue to my oath of office, were I to declare otherwise."

Definite Plan of Farm Relief

Declaring that agriculture presented "the most urgent economic problem in our nation today," Hoover said the Republican party farm plank constituted "a definite plan of relief" needing only "the detailed elaboration of legislation and appropriations to put it into force."

Aside from federal aid to farm stabilization corporations, he proposed tariff increases to give agriculture the same protection as other industries and the development of inland waterways, including the Mississippi and the Great Lakes to the Atlantic systems, as means of affording cheaper transportation for farm products and a corresponding shrinkage in the spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays.

"And adequate tariff is the foundation of farm relief," he said in putting this first in his program. Development of the great water arteries came second.

"These improvements would mean so large an increment in farmers' prices as to warrant their construction many times over," he asserted.

"There is no more vital method of farm relief."

RESIGNATION

Oh, then who are where Neptune wheels

Three billion miles away

Whose presence tunes the Pegasus song

And art with me today

Incomprehensible and eternal, guide

And light my unreturning way.

Formed by their changeless universal law

To be the heir of life and death

On whose incandescent dust both breathe

Thy vivifying breath

Serene and tranquil, trusting still I wait

The closing hour of death.

Bearing thy image, beyond omnipotent

Power and love

I may not stray

Hast thou not numbered all my years

To the appointed day

Even as the water moulds and shapes

His unresisting clay.

Sisters Attempt Hike to Saugerties

Tuckahoe, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Two girls attempted to walk to their father's home in West Saugerties, N. Y., after losing their jobs at Rye Beach early last week, spent last night sleeping in village headquarters here.

They said they were Pauline and Pearl Vedder, 18 and 17 years old. They were put in an institution when very young because of difficulties at home and last year were sent out to make a living. Several weeks ago they obtained work at Rye Beach.

Not realizing how far away West Saugerties is, they started to walk when they lost their positions. Motorist Officer Booker brought them to headquarters when they were found in Park View Heights asking residents for something to eat.

The police communicated with their father by telephone and he asked them to lend the girls money enough to get home. So this morning the police bought railroad tickets and after feeding the girls sent them on their way.

MISS O'CONNOR, NURSE, AID INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Margaret W. O'Connor of this city, who is a nurse connected with the State Health Department while traveling from Syracuse to Albany on the Metropolitan Flier of the New York Central train had a lively experience Friday. The dining car and a Pullman parlor car went off the rails near Fonda, landing in a ditch. Miss O'Connor, who was seated in a deluxe coach, immediately went to the wreckage and gave first aid to the injured.

27.—Alliteration That Cost an Election

THE long and vainly cherished Presidential ambitions of James G. Blaine, the Republican "plumed knight," came nearest to their realization in 1884, when he secured the nomination of his party, only to have the possibility of his election shattered during the latter days of the canvass by an unfortunate rooster that had nothing to do with the actual issues or personalities of the campaign.

Blaine in 1884 won his nomination against a protest movement within the party, headed by such men as Henry Cabot Lodge, young Theodore Roosevelt, Carl Schurz and a number of the latter's associates who had figured in the Liberal Republicans' bolt of 1872 that carried Horace Greeley to defeat.

The New York Sun called this group "Mugwumps," pretending the name to be of Indian origin, meaning "swell-heads." Mugwump opposition was unavailing in depriving Blaine of the nomination, which he won on the fourth ballot in the convention at Chicago, at which Blaine helmets and Blaine roosters were much in evidence.

Grover Cleveland, New York reform governor, was the Democratic choice. There was little difference in the availability of the two candidates, or in the two platforms. Lacking better issues, unscrupulous campaign managers descended to exploitation of personal scandals which made the canvass the most scurrilous in American history.

A single irregular episode in Cleveland's youth was exaggerated and distorted to make him appear an habitual profligate. When Cleveland's managers first were confronted with this scandal and asked their candidate how they should treat it, he answered with characteristic straightforwardness, "Tell the truth."

Blaine co-operated in the dissemination of this scandal. Soon Cleveland had the opportunity to bestir his opponent in much the same manner. But when a tale-bearer brought him the evidence against Blaine, Cleveland paid the man off and destroyed the papers.

Then a less scrupulous Indiana editor got hold of the ugly report, which reflected unjustly on the family life of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine, and published the details. The affair soon became gossip of the stump, which could not be ended even by a frank explanation that Blaine felt constrained to issue.

The "plumed knight" was ferociously caricatured by Democratic cartoonists as the "tattooed man," covered with reminders of certain acts in his public life which his opponents deemed discreditable. These cartoons deeply stung the sensibilities of the nominee, hardened as he had become to criticism by political foes during his long career in congress.

It was during the closing days of the campaign that the really decisive slip was made which probably cost the Republicans the election. A clergyman, Reverend Doctor Burchard, making a speech in Blaine's presence on the same platform, referred to the Democrats as the party of "rum, Romanism and rebellion."

Probably no brief bit of alliteration was ever more disastrous politically. The unhappy phrase slipped Blaine's attention at the time so that he did not at once refute it. Before he could issue a condemnation it appeared in print and the damage had been done. The phrase was broadcast by the Democratic press throughout the nation, frequently being falsely put into the lips of Blaine himself.

The incident cost him practically the entire vote of the Irish, who previously had been his strong supporters. The extreme closeness of the vote, with Irish precincts in New York going for Cleveland, showed that this stupid and fanatical phrase probably was what turned the tide in the election.

Excitement ran high as the returns came in. Mobs filled the streets. Violence was threatened in a number of cities. Bodies of excited men marched up and down as they had done at the beginning of the Civil war. A mob threatening to hang Jay Gould descended on his office in New York city, when they suspected that through his control of the chief telegraph company of the nation he was juggling election returns in favor of Blaine. Fearing for his life, Gould summoned police protection, then from some inner hiding place dispatched a message to Cleveland telling him he had been elected and enthusiastically congratulating him.

Blaine, with a composure that did not betray his own disappointment, announced the result to a crestfallen crowd of his friends and neighbors from the door of his home at Augustus, Maine.

Political Situation

"What do you think of the political situation?"

"The political situation I am most interested in," said Senator Sorghum, "is the one which happens to be affording me a salary. And I see no use of jeopardizing it by volunteer conversation."—Washington Star.

Family Devotions

When tea was over at the children's party, the hostess asked the smallest boy if he would say grace?

"What's that?" asked the honored guest.

"Why, don't you know?" said the surprised hostess. "What does your father say when he has had a good dinner?"

The small boy scratched his memory, then replied:

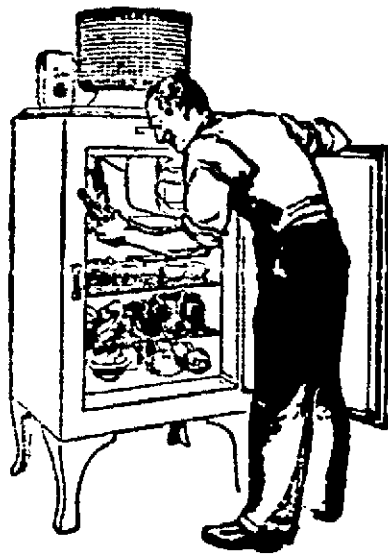

"He rubs his chest and says: 'Bless and is himself again!'"—The Outlook.

Harry Lauder could sing a song with that as the title and put his whole heart and soul into it—nothing more. But those few cents really do make a difference. For instance in Fire Insurance—the thrifty one who buys low cost insurance finds a similar quality of protection.

Buying stock insurance at a standard price is buying real protection. The insurance company assumes all liability included in the terms of the policy.

When a loss comes—the few cents difference in the premium does make a whale of a difference.

And that's that.

FAMOUS GAMBLING CASINOS IN NEW ORLEANS CLOSED

New Orleans, Aug. 12 (AP).—With flames where "Old Hickory" was stopped the British a century ago, a mighty bonfire destroyed the trap-planting and equipment of two famous New Orleans gambling casinos early in a hundred yards of the Delta yesterday morning shortly after they had been seized by state militiamen on orders from Governor Long. The soldiers cheered as the flames took hold.

The blow against the two clubs, the Jai-Alai and the Arabi, just outside the city limits, was struck swiftly. Lt. Governor Long reached New Orleans after dark Saturday and drove six miles down the river to Jackson Barracks, where he presented written orders to Adjutant General Fleming to raid the places nearby.

Arming his small detachment with rifles and pistols and dividing it in half under commands of captains, General Fleming stormed the places simultaneously. The whirr of the roulette wheels and the click of the dice were quickly turned into screams of women and oaths of men. "Back to the walls," yelled the captain. "We don't want to shoot, but we are prepared to."

A shot rang out from a sentry and pandemonium broke loose. But the several hundred men and women soon were lined against the walls and clean-up operations were begun. Guardsmen scooped up six thousand dollars in cash and others went down the line taking names and addresses that would make "John Doe" bluish.

As they were released on their personal recognizance and poured outside a cameraman set off a flash. Fifty men immediately pounced upon him. His camera was smashed and he was carried off unconscious and badly injured. People of standing were around those boards Saturday night and they guarded their identity.

Back in a New Orleans hotel, Governor Long received the reports with the gleam of a school boy. "Gambling will stop under my administration," he said. "I told them what I was going to do if they didn't close down."

That was answered the call of New Orleans business men, who complained that people were unable to play their bills with casino losses hitting close to the $50,000 mark nightly. The Jai-Alai and the Arabi clubs and three smaller ones were closed down as tightly as a drum last night and all was quiet along the lower Mississippi.

USES AIRPLANE TO VISIT FLOCKS

Oregon Clergyman Is the First Real "Sky Pilot" in the West.

Portland, Ore.—Over skyscraping mountains and lonely plains of the "Oregon country," where a few years ago tired circuit riders plodded their weary way, there now speeds on the wings of the wind a preacher-aviator. Rev. R. Robert Crawford of Portland is an ordained minister of the Apostolic Faith as well as a licensed pilot. He is constant overseer of the Pacific northwest region of his denomination and flies to the various outposts of his charge in a trim little airplane.

This airplane, believed to be one of a very few if not the only one used exclusively for evangelistic work, was purchased by the church to permit rapid travel from central headquarters to various small towns and to cities where ministerial services were needed urgently.

Modern Sky Pilot.

It is a three-passenger American Eagle biplane, equipped with a 125 horse power radial Ryan-Siemens motor, capable of traveling 110 miles per hour. Rev. Mr. Crawford, who is indeed a "sky pilot," uses it frequently whenever a congregation in any part of his wide territory sounds a call for speed.

The plane, with its gleaming white paint and striking design of a rising sun, attracts a crowd wherever it lands. Many a person in isolated towns has been surprised as it swooped to earth and shortly thereafter the pilot started preaching a sermon without bothering to remove his flying garments.

Wings of the Morning is the name of this ministerial airplane. "A pretty name, but why was it selected?" a reporter asked. "Read the eighth, ninth and tenth verses of the book Isaiah," Rev. Mr. Crawford said.

And, reading, this is what the reporter found: "If I soared up into heaven, Thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold, Thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea."

"Even there Thy hand shall lead me; and Thy right hand shall hold me." It was 16 years ago that R. Robert Crawford, then a tall youth of twenty, became an ordained minister in his native California. Six years ago, after pondering over the possibility of combining flying with preaching, he laid aside the broadcloth for a tunic and took up an aviator's helmet. He enrolled in the school of aeronautics conducted by the Curtiss Southwest Airplane company of Tulsa, Okla.

Five months of constant study and work passed before Crawford emerged a full-fledged pilot whose life was ordained to peace and good will. In February, 1920, he flew his first plane, a Curtiss Oriole, from Tulsa to Portland.

This plane was used for several years in dropping tracts and other religious reading matter and for other evangelistic purposes. Finally, when a fall in flying interest occurred, it was abandoned—mostly because of the lack of flying fields in this region. But now, with fields dotting Oregon and Washington, the aerial ministry work has been resumed and a new plane purchased.

Live in Rapid Age.

"We are living in a rapid age," Rev. Mr. Crawford said, "and with so many swift conveyances at the disposal of commerce and pleasure, the Apostolic Faith is thoroughly convinced that the gospel, above all things, should not take second place in being spread over the land."

"I am using a lawbone," David a sling, and I am above a mill, now means of accomplishing God's ends, and crude weapons, these, to bear against Satan and his forces. What great things we moderns should accomplish with all that is at our disposal if we but use it with the spirit that guided these ancients."

Crawford is thirty-six years old. He is married and has one son.

Financial Term

In automobile financing a balloon note refers to a note in which the last installment is much larger than each of the preceding installments, which are equal in amount. Usually a new agreement is made to extend the payment of the last installment when due.

How to Slow Him Down

Cruel Couple in Court
Black Rock, Ark.—Men and women spectators in a small, crowded courtroom here flogged a man and his wife who were charged with extreme cruelty to two adopted children.

The lash victims, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rhodes, were sentenced to ten days and fined $10 apiece on the cruelty charges.

Complaints were lodged against the couple by neighbors who alleged the two children, Gene and Wendell, five and seven years old respectively, had been chained to rafters in the Rhodes barn with their feet barely touching the floor.

Armed by the sight of the children, who were brought to court with their feet swollen from the chain bonds, the neighbors rushed the guards. The men seized Rhodes and the women his wife.

Goes to Europe to Get

"Dope" on U. S. Bugs
Lawrence, Kan.—The genealogy of American bugs is being studied in Europe by Prof. Herbert Hungerford of the University of Kansas.

Hungerford is on a tour of eight countries, taking along 3,000 specimens of North and South American insects for comparison with those abroad. The purpose of his research is to determine whether species to which American entomologists apply certain names are really related to "kinship" bearing the same name in Europe. No such comparison has ever been made.

The 3,000 "specimens" on Hungerford's trip are from the museum of the University of Kansas and the Smithsonian Institution. The professor will study entomological habits of England, Scotland, Germany, Sweden, Holland, France, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

POULTRY

WELL-BRED HENS PROVE CHEAPEST

Hens with good breeding often produce two dollars worth of eggs in a year more than hens with poor breeding, aside from their increased value as breeders, according to experiments on the Cornell poultry farm at the college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

This means that if a poultryman can get low-bred chicks for nothing he could afford to pay one dollar a chick for high-line birds, and still make $1 more a year on each bird than from the low-line birds.

Poultrymen at Cornell point to these facts as evidence that a baby chick costing ten cents may be dear, while a chick costing fifty cents may be a good investment, if the higher priced chick comes from consistent high-producing stock. Trap nesting, pedigree hatching, and progeny testing must be used to obtain consistent high records.

The records of the hens range from 175 to 302 eggs. Seventy-five per cent of the pedigree flock laid more than 200 eggs in one year. The males are from hens with pedigree of 225 eggs to 302 eggs. One pen of 35 pullets on the experiment farm averaged 80 eggs a bird during the four winter months, to March 1, or about 22 eggs a bird a month. These eggs were produced during the season of high prices, which is not true of birds that do not have good breeding, the department says. The number of birds that have laid 200 eggs has increased from 38 in 1921 to 179 in 1927.

Cheap but Ideal Floor

Favored for Henhouse

A cheap but ideal floor can be put in a chicken house by filling in about eight inches of cinders, gravel, or crushed rock and covering it with about two inches of rich cement. The porous material under the cement will break up the soil capillary and tend to keep the floor dry. The filling should be tamped until it forms a solid base for the concrete.

Hollow tile forms a more satisfactory base for the concrete and only one-half an inch of cement is needed to cover it. Tile is more expensive than the other filler, however, and sometimes much harder to get. It should be laid in a layer of sand so the surface of the tile can be made as smooth as possible before the cement covering is put on.

A slope of four inches in twenty feet from the back to the front of the house will tend to keep the litter evenly distributed over the floor. This slope will practically eliminate the disagreeable task of scratching the litter out from under the drooping boards of the ordinary house. There is no better time of the year to put a floor in the chicken house than just before the pullets are put into their winter quarters.

Profit on Goslings Is Made During Holidays

The best profit on market goslings (young geese) is made on those marketed at Christmas and New Years, as a general rule. Turkeys have the call at Thanksgiving. It will not do, however, to neglect the young geese and unless they are kept growing at top speed they will not be large enough to be most profitable when they are wanted for the holiday tables.

Sometimes we read that these young geese will obtain all the food they need in the fields and that they will live and grow if they have nothing but grass and whatever else they can find among nature's stores.

Give Clean Water

Clean and fresh water is as necessary to the success of egg production as is a correctly balanced ration. The man who goes to a lot of trouble with his feeding but is just indifferent with his watering, may expect trouble. Water is one of the chief constituents of an egg and it is required by the hen just as much as a human being, requires water to drink. It should be given several times each day, especially in summer.

Must Have Food

The Purdue university poultry department summarizes the general treatment of the farm hen as follows: "Hens won't live on hopes and prospects. They must have feed, and plenty of it. The hen does not get enough to eat in summer. The fields, haystacks and feed lots will furnish the hen little else but grains and green food. These alone and in their present insufficient quantities will not be sufficient to produce good egg production."

Culling Nonproducers

An easy and efficient method of culling the nonproducers out of the new hatch of pullets can be accomplished in the following manner. If each hatch has been housed separately: Keep the first 75 per cent of the pullets that come into production and sell the other one-fourth, or those that are last to start producing. By following this practice, few nonproducers will be carried through the winter on high-priced feed, taking up room needed for layers.

While the response has been liberal, the fund is still several hundred dollars short of the $3,500 which the committee set out to collect. Those wishing to have a part in sending these ambassadors of Uster county to the meeting of Legionnaires from all over the world are requested to send their donations to Hon. Arthur H. Wicks, treasurer, Kingston, N. Y.

There are 44 Kingston Legionnaires in the local drum corps. When this fund was started, it was estimated that about 35 men would be able to make the trip to represent Kingston in the big parade. However, those members of the corps who in the beginning thought their services could not be spared from their jobs now find that their employers are not only willing to spare them but are urging them to make the trip with the rest of their comrades. It looks now, therefore, as if more than 35 men would be able to go. Whatever extra funds are necessary on account of this increase will be raised by the members of the drum corps.
Several of the crack local baseball teams are generously playing games for the benefit of the fund, and others are planning to boost it along.

The lowest estimate obtained so far from the railroad companies quotes a price of $108.65 per man. This includes a special Pullman car from the time it leaves Rhinecliff until it returns to Rhinecliff. The car will be parked near the San Antonio railway station and used as sleeping quarters during the five days the men are in San Antonio.
Stopovers for four or five hours
each will be made at Cincinnati,
Ohio, Louisville, Ky., Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La. It has been suggested that the drum corps, with the Kingston, N. Y., banner parade during the stop-overs in each of the cities. This suggestion will receive consideration at the meeting of the drum corps tonight.

Ancients Stored Wine in Earthenware Jars

The vessels chiefly used in the early days for holding wine were invariably the skins of animals. These skins were formed into crude bags and the seams were cemented with pitch or resin. Such were the wine skins successfully employed by the wily Gibeonites in their negotiations with Joshua.
These were succeeded by the earthenware jars known as amphorae, the size and shape of which are obviously modeled on the primitive wine skin.
The amphorae was glazed inside and not outside, the glazing being a resinous composition evidently copied from that used for wine skins. Its capacity was about three gallons, and its aperture was at the thick end or top, unlike the wine skin, which was filled and emptied at the thin end or bottom. This simple but thoroughly practical vessel for containing wine remained in use without change for many centuries in Egypt, Greece and Rome. It was stored by thrusting the small end into the cellar floor of dry sand. When the first tier was completed it was covered up deeply with more dry sand, another tier of amphorae was placed above it, also smothered in sand, and there it was left for years to mature at an even temperature.

Old Custom Kept Up

A quaint ceremony was carried out at Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire, England, a few days ago. A choir stood on his head during the reading of the will of Edward Wilkes, a Seventeenth century London merchant, who bequeathed land to the sown on condition that this procedure be followed in connection with the annual beating of the boundaries.

Dry-Farming Principles

Dry farming addresses itself to the problem of saving the rain that falls and of seeing that the roots of useful plants, not weeds, get it.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception all day Sunday and during the evening was excellent, with no static and little local noises.
The principal local disturbances were in the forenoon and these were of the extremely local nature that characterized the man made noises
Saturday evening.

Reception Saturday evening was very strong and clear, the best in several weeks. Chicago, Nashville, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit and other western stations were received clearly and in greater volume than usually comes from New York.
The only trouble was from local disturbances which seemed to be very restricted in the area disturbed.
In some cases the noises began at 8:15 and continued until 10 o'clock in a series of recurring snarls, growls and snorts.

Among the DX stations worth listening to were WLW, WJR, WTAM, KDKA, WSAI, WBZ, WLS,
WLAC, WGN, WNAO, and WENR.
Especially good was WLAC at Nashville, which was trying out its new 5,000 watt broadcasting equipment and making a very successful demonstration.

Two of the latest compositions of Erno Rapen, one of Roxy's most brilliant conductors, will be brought to air audiences in the next Hoover broadcast at eight-thirty Thursday night, August 23—"Some Day, Some Where" as sung by the Horner Honeycombers, and "Angelica Mia" as an orchestral number.
Belief that the Fifth Annual Radio Industries Banquet would be broadcast by 115 of the country's radio stations, on September 18, is expressed here by L. S. Baker, managing director of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Partisan Criminality

I have often wondered to see men of probity who would seem to offer a falsehood for their own particular advantage, give so readily in to a lie when it is becoming the voice of their faction, notwithstanding they are thoroughly sensible of it as such. How is it possible for those who are men of honor in their persons thus to become notorious liars in their party?
—Joseph Addison.

Disposal Planned

A certain city council estimated that "oil dirt, refuse, etc., must be immediately removed, otherwise the council will take it into their own hands"

Time Has Swallowed Up Ancient Marvels

Of the seven wonders of the ancient world the only satisfactory survival is the first group, the pyramids and the great sphinx. The foundation and many fragments of the mausoleum have been disclosed by modern excavation; the structure was destroyed by an earthquake. Monads indicating the position of the walls and gardens of Babylon have also been identified.

The Colossus, composed of brass cast in pieces, was overthrown by an earthquake in 224 B. C. The pieces lay there for many centuries, until the Turks took Rhodes. They sold the brass to a merchant, who is said to have employed 300 camels to carry it away.

The temple of Diana was burned in 356 B. C. by Erastostates, an obscure individual who thought thus to make himself famous. It was rebuilt in a less pretentious manner, and survived until the coming of the Goths in A.
D. 226. Barbarian invaders are thought to have destroyed also the Olympian Jove and the pharos of Alexandria.

Red Flood Lighting

That effective flood lighting of buildings need not be necessarily of white or light color, and that the use of lights is not restricted to white lights has been demonstrated by the use of red lights exclusively on a large manufacturing plant located on the principal railroad between Philadelphia and New York. This building is of brick and built on simple lines. When the white lights were tried the lines of mortar between the bricks seemed to be offensively accentuated. The white were replaced by red lamps and the effect was more than satisfactory.

The structure seemed to stand out from the surrounding properties and its impressive size was made apparent without unduly revealing the homely lines.

Saskatchewan River

Saskatchewan is an Indian name meaning "swift-flowing" or "rapid," and although it is the name now borne by the great river which rises in Alberta and flows through Saskatchewan and Manitoba, into Lake Winnipeg, it was not its original name. Saskatchewan was given by the Indians to more than one stream.
For example, it was an early appellation of the present Minnesota river.
In Manitoba, while Saskatchewan is the name of a tributary to Severn river, Ontario.

Pan-Ams Beat All-Stars, 8-7

Bill McNally's Pan-Am club scored an 8-7 victory over the Kingston All-Stars Sunday afternoon at the Sunnyside road diamond. The tilt was an exciting one, which pleased a goodly number of the women's spectators.

The Pan-Ams and the All-Stars each scored a run in the opening inning. In the third stanza the oilmen took the lead by a lone marker. The fourth made the Pan-Ams sit up and take notice for the All-Stars tallied four times in the session. In the fifth the teams broke even. The Pan-Ams scored a quartet of runs and the All-Stars increased their five tallies by one. The Pan-Ams got two runners across the rubber in the eighth and one All-Star player scored in the last frame, which left the result 8-7 in favor of McNally's nine.

Carpenter and Celuch did the pitching for the winning team. The former had six strikeouts to his credit. Joe DuBois of the All-Stars, retired the same number of batters, Hank Craven of the All-Stars did the best hitting of the game. He made good five times out of the same number of tries.

SPARTANS DEFEATED THE PORT EWEN A. C.

Dave Hawk's Spartans trounced the Port Ewen A. C. Sunday afternoon to the tune of 23-9 in a seven-inning contest at Port Ewen. Eddie Baker held the Spartans hitless and scoreless for the five innings he worked in the box. Johnny Johnson hurled the last two innings for the winners.

Manager Longendyke has two hard games booked for this week. Wednesday evening the Radio nine will meet the Blue Sox at Hasbrouck Park and Friday night will oppose the Clermonts. The Spartans now have five pitchers to pick from: Eddie Baker, Paul Moore, Jackie Cohen, Bob Corrogan and Ken Williams. The latter recently joined the team.

MANAGER KANE'S CAREER VARIED

Pilot Was Jockey, Singer and Saxophone Player.

Eddie Kane, who handles the business affairs of the very good little lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell, has been, at various times in his career, a jockey, a singer and hooper, a fancy billiard crack and a saxophone player of great skill.

When he was in England several years ago he was given entrée to another racket but, he said in justice to him, he didn't accept.

Kane was enjoying a sociable evening in the Savoy hotel bar with a party of friends and they were joined by another group which included a rather stunning woman.

The lady took a liking to Kane and proceeded to engage him in heavy conversation, which was not to his liking. He kept one ear on the conversation of the others and yessed her.

She asked him if he knew a number of persons in Chicago and New York and after he had told her that he knew each one of them well she told him quietly:

"You come with us tonight. We know a good spot you're in. The first glance I took at you I spotted you as a dip."

Kane tells a story about the first time he took Sammy Mandell out on the road. They went to a swell hotel and Sammy tried out a new fancy shower, but when he finished he couldn't find any towels on the rack so he picked up the bath mat which was folded on the side of the tub. He gave himself a brisk rub and then shouted out to Kane:

"Gee, these towels are stiff. They're great for a rubdown but I can't get it in my ears."

Stretch of Consecutive 300 Seasons for Cobb

If Ty Cobb bats 300 this season (and one of the safest predictions in baseball that we know of is that he will) his stretch of consecutive 300 seasons will reach 23. No other player, living or dead, ever had more than 20 seasons of 300 clubbing in his record.

Adrian C. Anson, the immortal captain of the Chicago, had averages of 300 or better for the first 20 seasons of his career.

Anson played major league ball from 1871 to 1897 inclusive, a stretch of 27 seasons.

Cobb is playing his twenty-fourth season in the American league. If he sticks to his present plans he will not equal Anson's record of 27 seasons. Cobb intends to make this his last year. He is positive that he will retire at the end of the season. If he does change his mind and consent to try another season, 1929 will certainly see his retirement to private life.

While Anson played 27 years, Cobb has played more games than Anson, or any other man for that matter. In the day when Anson was a great slugger the seasons did not carry 154-game schedules.

Where Bobby's Strength Lies in Game of Golf

Professional golfers say what makes Bobby Jones a superman on the links is not so much the drives and iron shots, of which a lot has been written, as it is his skill within 20 feet of the green.

The shot which even the expert dreads is the short approach from the edge of matted grass or the short pitch from wet sand. These shots are poison to most players, but pie to Bobby. Put him within 20 feet of the green and no matter what the lie may be, the chances are that he will toss the ball near the cup and hole his putt. That's golf!

Fred Mitchell Renamed as Head Baseball Coach

The announcement of the reappointment of Fred Mitchell as head baseball coach is made by the Harvard Athletic association. It was said that Mitchell has signed a contract which will not expire until 1931.

Mitchell first took charge of Harvard baseball in 1910. Harvard dropped the game when the war broke out in 1917 and Mitchell did not return to Cambridge until 1924, when he served as pitching coach. He had been head coach since 1925.

Billy Southworth, former major leaguer with the Rochester Internationals, is showing no signs of losing his batting power. He's well above the 200 mark.

Tagging Major League Bases

By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer.

A shadow, dark and menacing, hangs over the St. Louis Cardinals and their hopes of another National League pennant.

The shadow is cast by the bulky figure of John J. McGraw and his New York Giants, almost yearly factors in any pennant chase. The Giants now are playing the kind of baseball that wins pennants. If they can keep up their present gait on their swing through the west they should return for their final home stand either leading the league or close enough to the top to make them the most dangerous of contenders.

Without swinging a bat, the Giants shaved another half game off the Cardinals' slim lead yesterday, or rather the Chicago Cubs performed that service for the Clan McGraw. The Cubs pounded Flint Rhum for three runs in the first inning of their game with St. Louis and eventually emerged with a 4 to 2 decision over the league leaders who now have lost five of their last eight games.

Rhum was greeted with home runs by Cuyler and Wilson, accounting for three runs in the first inning, was battered for another in the third and finally knocked out of the box with one in the fourth. Arthur Rhuhart took up the burden and gave the Cubs only one hit, the rest of the way but the damage had been done. Wilson's homer was his twenty-seventh of the season. Pat Malone gave the Cards seven hits. One of them Jim Bottomley's twenty-fifth homer of the year. The defeat reduced the Cardinals' lead to two and one-half games.

The Cincinnati Reds clouted three pitchers for 15 hits and romped off with an easy 6 to 2 victory over the Phillies. George Kelly got four hits, two of them doubles.

Jess Petty slightly outpitched Johnny Cooney and Brooklyn defeated Boston, 3 to 1. Petty blanked the Braves until the ninth when Richbourg's single, Brown's double and Sislers' sacrifice fly sent one run across the plate.

Taking advantage of the fact that the Philadelphia Athletics were washed out by rain at Washington, the New York Yankees added half a game to their American League lead by trimming the Boston Red Sox for the fourth time, 8 to 0. Herb Pennock granted only three hits and gained his fifth shutout of the year, the best mark in either major league. The Yanks now lead the A's by five games.

Three runs in the ninth gave Cleveland a 3 to 2 decision over the Detroit Tigers. Earl Whitehill was saved for eight innings by sensational Tiger support but doubles by Morgan, Jamieson and Lind and Luke Sewell's single broke the spell in the final frame.

Alvin Crowder granted the Chicago White Sox only four hits and

Brighams Lost At Tannersville

The Brigham A. C. lost a hard fought game to the Tannersville nine at the mountain community diamond Sunday afternoon. The brickmakers were nosed out 9-8. "Filippo" Komosa got off to a had start, which gave the Tannersville club an early opportunity to roll up a substantial score. After the second inning Komosa settled down and hurled a good brand of ball for the Brighams. C. Tiano starred for the losers with four hits out of five tries. After the third inning the Brighams struck their regular stride and came within the one run margin of tying the game. The Brighams would like to hear from the Clermonts, Spartans, Red Sox and any other teams in this vicinity. Games may be booked with the Brighams by calling 52-F-2 after 3 p. m.

Dry Those Tears

As the motor nunnac was tearing along the road at 60 miles an hour he caught sight of a pretty girl. He turned to gaze at her and said: "What a stunner!" Had his widow known this she might have spent less on the wreath.—Montreal Star.

Racers to Seek Records Here

Attempts to set up new records for half-mile dirt tracks will be made by the race drivers entered in the big professional, sanctioned automobile racing meet which is to be staged at Kingston, Friday, August 17, on the Kingston Fair Ground track.

This year is marking the peak of interest in the dirt track auto racing game when this sensational sport is staging the greatest comeback since the days of Oldfield, Rickenbacker and Burman, stars of the pre-speedway era.

It is a far call since the days of Oldfield's old Nine-Ninety-Nine, the Winston Bullet, the Christie death car, the Green Dragon and the Blitzen Benz.

Death has called many drivers retirement has eliminated some of the names known in the road race and early dirt track times. Bob Burman, Gaston Chevrolet, Louis LeCocq, Jimmie Costa, Roscoe Sarge and Frank Lockhart have met death in their efforts to set up speed marks. Barney Oldfield and Eddie Rickenbacker have gone into retirement.

Now a new crop of speed stars are springing up on the dirt ovals and such names as "Smiling" Bob Robinson, Doug Wallace, Rocca Blazglo, the daring Italian, Herman Schurch, the German ace, Charlie Ross, Dick Selp, are coming into prominence.

All of the above drivers have filed entry for the Kingston meet and no doubt these boys will give good account of themselves.

Ralph Hankinson, veteran starter has been secured to act as referee and starter in the Kingston meet.

Hoover Will Amplify Views

Swinging into his campaign in September he will expand on several subjects including prohibition and farm relief.

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 13. —Swinging into his campaign in September he will expand on several subjects including prohibition and farm relief. Hoover probably will expand upon several of the subjects treated in his address here Saturday accepting the Republican presidential nomination. They will include prohibition, farm relief, foreign affairs and the development of natural resources.

While the candidate has not disclosed the line he will take in amplifying his declaration on the wet and dry question, some of his confidential advisers have asserted that he will make clear his position and that the searching investigation he proposed in his speech will extend to the subject of the Volstead Act itself as well as the abuses which have surrounded its enforcement.

These same advisers state specifically that Mr. Hoover by no means has closed the door on the modification of the first enforcement act passed under the Eighteenth Amendment if all the facts obtained by the investigating commission point to this as a constructive method of carrying forward what he has characterized as "a great social and economic experiment."

In this connection, however, they emphasize what the standard bearer himself said in his acceptance speech: that modification to permit that which the Constitution forbids is nullification, which the American people will not countenance.

Hoover's views as to farm relief are to be amplified in the address he will make at his birthplace at West Branch, Iowa, on the evening of August 21, and present expectations are that he will advert to this subject on more than one occasion before the campaign ends in November.

In his next speech, to be delivered at a homecoming celebration in Los Angeles next Friday afternoon, he will touch again on development of water resources and probably will speak briefly regarding the Boulder Canyon Dam project, which he has endorsed and which is regarded of vital importance to the people in the southern portion of his home state.

In order to complete his address and the one he will make at West Branch, Iowa, the nominee has abandoned the idea of making a motor trip to the California Sierras before leaving here next Thursday night for Washington. He may be able to get in one day of fishing, but most of his time will be spent at work.

Additional messages regarding his acceptance address continued to pour into his home today, supplementing the 200 or more he received Saturday night and yesterday. He has been gratified by the purport of the telegrams, which came from Democrats as well as Republicans, and which have indicated to him that the speech of acceptance was well received over the country generally.

Thomas R. Love, a Democratic leader of Texas, who already has announced that he would vote for Hoover, said: "I shall vote for you in November, and only blunders can prevent you from carrying Texas, whose voice you have uttered tonight."

W. N. Doak, vice president and legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, hailed the speech as "the political masterpiece of the ages," while Alexander Moore, American ambassador to Peru, cabled congratulations on a "masterful address."

EXTENSIVE DEMONSTRATION OF PLANT BREEDING AT FAIR

The exhibit which the Department of Plant Breeding will make at the State Fair this year is expected to present convincing arguments for good seed.

An eight foot wheel will have yield data (a veritable wheel of fortune) on it contrasting the crop harvested from poor seed with that gained from the use of good seed. Eight of the principal crops of the State will be included on the wheel. As panels flanking the wheel there will be one or two bundles from a certified wheat field on one side and some bundles from an uncertified wheat field on the other side.

Bales of hay representing the difference in yield between selected strains and commercial brands of timothy seed will be on display. Bales of clover hay made to scale represent the difference in yield to be expected from seedlings with adapted as contrasted with unadapted seed. There will be threshed grain and plant samples of those varieties of small grains recommended for New York State as well as samples of the varieties of corn recommended by the department.

UNIQUE FORESTRY EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

The forestry exhibit at the State Fair, held this year August 27 to September 1st, is a real wood lot brought indoors. The stems of large trees, the seedlings and sprouts underneath, the leaves of the forest floor, the old rail fence, all are genuine.

Outside the fence cattle are seen grazing among the trees. The woods are thin, stumps of cut trees sprouting feebly, the total lack of seedlings and the light ground cover of poor grass indicate rapid deterioration due to grazing.

Within the fence cattle have never grazed. The ground is carpeted with a layer of decaying leaves. Thrifty seedlings and saplings are springing up under the shelter of clean stemmed timber trees. The fenced portion of the woodlot is thrifty.

With dairying a great industry of New York State, provision must be made for ample grazing facilities. The woodlot, however, as the exhibit shows clearly, is not the place to secure such pasturage. Above the grazed portions of the woodlot we read: The trees are sad where cattle browse. The smiles are all upon the cows. Over the fenced woodlot is inscribed: The trees are glad where cattle graze. They grow and grow without restraint.

MODELS OF MERCHANT SHIPS AT STATE FAIR

One of the innovations to be disclosed at the New York State Fair August 27 to September 1st is the exhibition of ship models entered by the United States Shipping Board.

It is proposed to bring to the attention of New York State shippers the advantages of using our Merchant Marine, and the department has arranged for a very elaborate and comprehensive exhibit for the State Fair.

Free camping grounds at the State Fair will attract hundreds of visitors this year as was the case in 1927. The camping site is in a beautiful grove—comfort stations, electric lights and pavilions.

Absence doesn't make the heart grow any fonder than presents.
